Brisk Winds Bring Winter Back to Ohio

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Old Man Winter has returned to Ohio.

Scattered snow flurries were reported throughout the state and temperatures skidded from 50-degree readings Tuesday to mostly in the teens and 20s during the night. Brisk westerly winds averaged from 20 to 30 m.p.h.

Snow flurries were to end in southwest sections of the state this afternoon and most of the remainder of the state tonight. But the flurry activity was likely to continue until Thursday morning in northeastern counties.

Clear skies were expected in most sections of Ohio today with temperatures in the teens and lower locally. Thursday's weather was to be dry and cold.

Temperatures this morning included Toledo 18, Cleveland 23, Cincinnati 19, Columbus 21 and Zanesville 25.

The cold also swept into the Northeast, accompanied by strong winds.

Texas dust was blown by strong winds as far away as Pennsylvania in what the U.S. Weather Bureau called "an extremely unusual phenomenon."

The dust billowed over Tennessee, Ohio and Pennsylvania, apparently the remnants of a huge dust storm in Texas and Oklahoma Monday.

A heavy snow struck northern Illinois Tuesday, measuring eight inches in some areas, and hampered repair work on power lines felled by ice which had formed Saturday.

The temperature dipped near zero in the Chicago area.

Winds measured at 70 miles an hour moved across western New York, toppling trees, disrupting electrical service and causing minor damage.

Frigid air crossed the Canadian border into the north central states, sending temperatures well below zero.

In northern Illinois, 3,600 power-line repair workers—including some from Denver, Minneapolis, St. Louis, northern Ohio and Philadelphia — were hampered by Tuesday's heavy snow.

Many families without lights, heat and water rented hotel rooms and others stayed with friends. The American Red Cross, Salvation Army and Civil Defense set up public shelter and mobile units.

The Illinois Department of Health issued a power generator and 200 cots with blankets and sheets for an emergency community housing center.

Commonwealth Edison Co. officials have placed the damage to power equipment at $2 million.

Jaywalker's Excuse Accepted by Police

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — A woman caught jaywalking on South Smithville Road Tuesday stood silent while a policeman wrote out a ticket.

When the officers handed her the ticket, one asked: "Why didn't you go down to the crosswalk to cross the street?"

"I couldn't," she said.

"Why not," they asked.

"My money blew across the street and I was chasing it," she said.

The officers canceled the ticket.

Most Circleville Retailers Favor Opening on Wednesday Afternoons

Doors will be open next Wednesday afternoon at most downtown Circleville stores.

This was the general consensus following a meeting of about 43 local business representatives yesterday at the Pickaway Arms. The special session was called by Jack Clifton, president of the Circleville Area Chamber of Commerce.

The Chamber's objective was to take a close look at the Circleville business scene. The initial goal was to reach a verdict on whether or not stores will continue to close or be open on Wednesday afternoons.

In the past, the majority of downtown stores has closed Wednesday p. m. However, the current trend has been to stay open. Several firms have followed this practice recently and some of them report good results.

MOST of the merchants voiced a positive attitude toward the Wednesday proposal. However, several expressed the view that the venture must be close to a 100 per cent effort on the part of all firms if the new policy is to attain maximum success and entice their participation.

Clifton invited a discussion on the Wednesday project. No clearcut opinions contrary to the proposal were expressed following his call for objections.

The Chamber prexy, emphasizing that such a retail business meeting is long overdue here, diagramed the Wednesday afternoon problem as the first hurdle to overcome. He defined his comments further by saying it is the Chamber's feeling that "stores should make an effort to be open when customers want them open."

In the same token, Clifton said steps must be taken to encourage and serve the outstanding rural farm trade potential that exists in Pickaway County. He mentioned, as an example, the prominent sales that take place each Wednesday at the Bowling Stock Yards.

His general impression was that local stores should be open Wednesday afternoons in conjunction with these stock sales. (Continued on Page Two) Khanh Back; Return Poses Woes for U.S.

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — South Viet Nam's generals returned Lt. Gen. Nguyen Khanh to power in a bloodless military coup today, and the Buddhist opposition to the civilian government began jubilant celebrations.

Khanh charged Premier Tran Van Huong's three-month-old government had failed to stabilize the chaotic situation in the nation's major cities. He said the chaos was impeding the war against the Communist Viet Cong.

The coup posed new problems for the United States, which had hoped civilian government could rally the populace behind the war effort.

The U.S. embassy said in a statement: "Until we can assess more clearly the nature and extent of the important events set in motion this morning, it would be premature for the U.S. mission to comment or render a judgment."

Reliable sources said Khanh and the military council he heads had planned the coup for Feb. 2 but decided to pull it off today because U.S. Ambassador Maxwell D. Taylor was on a trip to Laos and Thailand.

Taylor left Bangkok hurriedly to return to Saigon. Five leading Buddhist monks who had been making a "fast to the death" to bring down Premier Huong began eating late this afternoon.

An estimated 4,000 supporters flocked into the Buddhist headquarters, which previously had been barred to them by paratroopers, and dragged the beds (Continued on Page Two)

Negroes Press Voter Signup

'Bama Registration Is Moving Slowly

SELMA, Ala. (AP) — A special 12-day voter registration term ends today with many Negroes still waiting to take a literacy test and state troopers standing by to safeguard against violence.

Civil rights leaders planned to keep up the pressure on the Board of Registrars in an effort to get as many Negroes as possible added to the voter rolls in the final day.

The three-member board has been in session three days in each of the past four weeks. Next Monday it will return to the regular two-days-a-month schedule.

Only a few Negroes tried to register in the first two weeks of the special term. Since the massive civil rights campaign led by Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. got under way nine days ago, prospective voters have marched to the courthouse by the hundreds.

Only about 40 Negroes — some of them standing in line for hours — have managed to take the lengthy literacy test. The board has not said whether any of them had been registered.

State troopers brought in Tuesday remained in Selma overnight but only on a standby basis. City and county officers policed the area around the courthouse Tuesday without calling on the troopers although the city had asked them to come in case they were needed.

Sheriff James G. Clark and his deputies arrested more than 200 Negroes last week when they refused to use the courthouse door designated by county authorities.

A federal court injunction issued last Saturday prohibited sheriff's officers from further interference. Since then the campaign has moved along with less difficulty.

Inmate Convicted In Prison Slaying

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A jury of five men and seven women found Jerry Taylor, 24, an Ohio penitentiary inmate, guilty of second-degree murder late Tuesday in the knife slaying of a fellow inmate.

The jury had deliberated about seven hours in the case. Taylor had been serving a life sentence on a previous first-degree murder conviction in connection with the stabbing death of a Detroit, Mich., cab driver.

In his latest trial the jury found him guilty of killing Albert Eugene Scott, 35, during a fight in the penitentiary dining hall April 11, 1964. Taylor testified Scott had twice threatened him with a knife.

Air Academy Cheat Probe Is Continuing

AIR FORCE ACADEMY, Colo. (AP) — Fidgety cadets continue to parade before a special board of officers at a secret hideout in the investigation of cheating at the U.S. Air Force Academy. The probe may stretch into weeks.

The only hard news that came out of the administration building Tuesday was that six more cadets had resigned.

The superintendent, Maj. Gen. Robert H. Warren, made the announcement in a 112-word statement which also said the investigation was painstaking and probably would last until Feb. 10.

After that, he said, the results will be forwarded to Secretary of the Air Force Eugene M. Zuckert for review. The entire process might take 30 to 60 days.

The academy placed the resignation figure to date at 35, although unofficial but informed sources said it was much higher. Forty reportedly resigned Monday, joining the 29 announced by the academy last week.

"We assume every one of the boys implicated will resign rather than face court-martial," an academy spokesman said. "It's the best way out, but it's a slow process."

Patrol Finds Man Steady Customer

TYLER, Tex. (AP) — State patrolman Bobby Miller answered a 6:45 p.m. call Tuesday and found a small sports car overturned beside a rural road.

The driver, Don Henry Brown, 21, of the Whitehouse community, told Miller another car had pulled into his path from one side, he swerved to miss it and his vehicle upset. Miller drove him home.

At 7:50 p.m. the officer received another call. This time he found a compact automobile upside down in another rural road. Beside it stood Brown, who said the car was his sister's and it flipped as he avoided a car halted in the middle of the roadway.

Miller took Brown, unhurt in either accident, home a second time.

Host of Mourners Filing Past Sir Winston's Flag-Draped Bier

LONDON (AP) — Headed by Prime Minister Harold Wilson, a host of mourners began filing today past the flag-draped coffin of Sir Winston Churchill.

The body of Britain's 90-year-old man of the century lay in state amid the cold, hushed grandeur of ancient Westminster Hall, the first commoner to lie in state there in this century. Wilson, his wife and members of Parliament were the first of many thousands who during the next three days will pass through the hall in tribute to one of England's greatest sons.

Outside the hall a steadily growing throng waited to pay their tribute.

Churchill's body lay in a closed coffin on a high black-draped catafalque a few steps from the House of Commons which was his historic stage. The coffin will lie there until the state funeral in St. Paul's Cathedral Saturday.

Against the backdrop of great Gothic windows, the catafalque held the eye like a magnet.

Towering over the closed coffin was a golden cross, sparkling in the light of six candles as many giant candlesticks, one at each corner of the cata-falque, one at the head, the sixth at the foot.

Three heads bowed, four motionless officers of Churchill's beloved Royal Navy and marines stood at the four corners of the catafalque.

Four London police constables — two men and two women — also stood silently near the catafalque, between it and the people as they shuffled past.

Overlooking the scene, high against the west wall, was a lone naval officer.

Every 20 minutes the guard of honor changed. Army officers and officers of the Royal Air Force replaced the officers from the navy and marines.

A gigantic Union Jack covered the closed coffin. Atop it was a black silk cushion. Upon the cushion rested Sir Winston's insignia as a Knight of the Garter — the collar, the star and the garter.

Before the catafalque, the prime minister and Mrs. Wilson stopped, turned and bowed.

Then they turned and walked slowly through the hall and out into New Palace Yard.

Armless Man Is Given New Driver Test

LANCASTER, Pa. (AP) — "A handicap is a state of mind," said Ray R. Myers, as he took a new driver's test to regain his license, revoked by the state.

Myers, armless since birth, took the examination Tuesday on the state driving course and in downtown Lancaster traffic.

His car has no special equipment. He holds the steering wheel with his right foot and uses his left foot for the floor pedals. His left knee operates the turn signals and his right knee is used to shift the automatic transmission.

Myers, 54, has a 29-year record of traffic safety. His only driving mishap was in 1935 when another car struck his in the rear.

A new computer used by the State Traffic Bureau discovered Myers' armless condition earlier this month and his license was revoked.

State Safety Commissioner Harry H. Brainerd watched the test. He said the results would not be disclosed for a week to 10 days.

Medics To Decide on LBJ Trip to Churchill Rites

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson awaited a new medical checkup today before deciding whether to fly to London for Sir Winston Churchill's funeral.

Johnson, smiling and winking, walked out of the Naval Medical Center in suburban Bethesda, Md., Tuesday after a 3½-day stay with a heavy cold and sore throat.

Press secretary George E. Reedy said the President was "in very good shape" but that a final decision on whether he would fly to England was being postponed.

Dr. W. J. Gould, New York throat specialist, was flying to Washington today to join Johnson's personal physician, Rear

Rehabilitation Of 4-Fs Gets Cool Hearing

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Johnson administration's plan to rehabilitate some of the thousands of young men rejected each year for the draft because they cannot pass physical or mental tests received a cool reception from senators Tuesday.

Secretary of the Army Stephen Ailes appeared before the Defense Appropriations subcommittee to ask approval of the plan to use $3.1 million of unspent Army funds to start the experimental program at Ft. Leonard Wood, Mo.

Chairman Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., said he would ask the full Appropriations Committee to study the request.

Ailes and other Army spokesmen said correction of minor medical defects and up to 14 weeks of intensive educational training could bring some of those rejected up to standards for enlistment. He estimated the plan could provide an additional 8,000 men for the Army each year.

Ailes denied the plan was an effort to push military forces into "social training" or was part of President Johnson's anti-poverty program.

Return of Alamo Flag Is Proposed

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — State Rep. W. H. Miller of Houston wants Texas to recover the battle flag captured by Mexican troops as the Alamo fell in 1836 during the war which won Texas independence.

His resolution introduced Tuesday would authorize a seven-man committee to negotiate with Mexico for the banner's return.

The azure flag, bearing the slogan "God and Liberty," is displayed in the Mexican National Archives Museum at Chapultepec Castle.

House Votes To Curb Food For Nasser

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House has turned a deaf ear to pleas of administration spokesmen and voted to curb the sales of surplus farm products to Nasser's United Arab Republic.

Tuesday's action got the administration off to a shaky start with the new Congress, but President Johnson's legislative leaders didn't seem worried. The Senate could reverse the decision.

UAR President Gamal Abdel Nasser has told the United States in effect to take its aid and "go to hell, Nasser's outburst in a Port aid speech last month apparently was triggered by U.S. accusations that he is aiding Congolese rebels.

Despite the outburst, the United States announced five days later — Dec. 28 — that it was going through with plans to provide Nasser with $17 million worth of surplus wheat. Washington has been supplying Nasser with about $140 million in food yearly under a three-year agreement that expires next June 30.

Tuesday's 204-177 House vote followed a plea by the President's House leaders not to tie his hands in framing foreign policy. The majority consisted of 128 Republicans and 76 Democrats. On the losing side were 177 Democrats. Not recorded either way were 31 Democrats and 11 Republicans.

NEW YORK (AP) — Just one year after its controversial wheat sale to the Soviet Union, Continental Grain Co. has swung a soybean deal with the Russians.
The $11-million deal — the first big sale of soybeans to the Soviet Union — sent soybean futures prices to seasonal highs on the Chicago Board of Trade Tuesday.
Grain trade sources in New York expressed mild surprise that the Commerce Department granted an export license for the sale, since soybeans are not a surplus product. Wheat was "The question is: 'Will the government grant more licenses if the Russians want more soybeans?'" said one grain company executive.
Some economists anticipate an even bigger demand for the versatile soybean — used in making products from bread and drugs to fertilizers and in sect sprays.
At current prices, Continental's sale would represent about 41 million bushels. This season's crop is estimated at about 700 million bushels, with exports estimated to reach 205 million.
Since the soybean price is well above the government subsidy price, the government is not in a position to stipulate the shipping arrangements.

UofC Studies New Facilities

Off-Campus College Expansion Slated

CINCINNATI (AP) — University of Cincinnati officials are studying plans to open "one or more off-campus community colleges" under UC auspices in southwestern Ohio.
UC president Walter C. Langsam said today the studies were requested by the Ohio Board of Regents which coordinates the state's higher education programs. He did not identify any of the sites under consideration.
"So far, no Hamilton County applicant who qualifies has been turned away from the University of Cincinnati, although not all applicants have been admitted to the specific UC college of their choice. But other arrangements soon will have to be made, as the number of high school graduates rises beyond all precedent," Dr. Langsam said.
UC opened a two-year community college on its campus four years ago. Dr. Langsam said 1,379 persons registered for it last fall quarter.
After saying that the studies have begun, he added that "the eventual findings will be brought to the attention of county officials and the regents, since Ohio law permits county-state-university cooperation leading to such educational progress." It is anticipated that such colleges will be financed by the state and the registrants.
"The first direct step to provide this form of higher education in the county may then be taken after the publication, in the spring, of the regents' master plan for higher education in Ohio."
The UC president made his statement while Miami University officials prepared for ground-breaking at another southwestern Ohio branch campus. The ceremony, in Middletown, is scheduled for Thursday.
The $3.2 million facility will open in September 1966 with an expected initial enrollment of 2,500 students. The enrollment is expected to reach 5,000 by 1970, drawing students mostly from Butler, Preble and Warren counties.
Meanwhile Councilman Thomas A. Luken Tuesday charged that UC is not receiving a fair deal in state aid. Luken filed a motion asking the City Council to request the 106th General Assembly and the Board of Regents to increase aid payments to UC from $200 for each freshman and sophomore to $510 for all undergraduates, or the same amount received by state universities.

Need for More Alert Railroad Tower Aide Cited

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — More alert action on the part of a tower operator might have prevented or "minimized" a freight train collision that killed five crewmen near Akron on Jan. 11, a railway official contends.
Charles E. Heck, superintendent of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad's Akron-Chicago Division, expressed that view Tuesday at an Interstate Commerce Commission hearing in the Columbus federal building.
Heck told ICC examiner Henry J. Vinskey that tower operator Sherman E. Hines of Creston might have stopped one of the trains if he had used a red lantern or flare instead of just waving his arms.
Hines attempted to halt a Baltimore & Ohio freight just moments before it collided with an Erie-Lackawanna train at a crossover at Sterling in Wayne County. The engines exploded and burst into flames, killing three B & O crewmen and two Erie employees.
Hines had testified at the hearing earlier that he ran down the tower steps to try to halt the B & O train after his controls showed it had passed a stop signal.
Earlier testimony by employees of both railroads established that immediately after the crash, the central tower equipment showed the B & O train had been signaled to stop and the Erie train to pass. The B & O train was traveling at six to eight miles an hour and the Erie freight at about 50 miles an hour, witnesses said.
Some of the signal wires were destroyed by fire.
Heck said his investigation revealed that the three B & O crewmen jumped from the train and tried to run to safety. "Eight or 10 feet more and they would have made it," he said.
Examiner Vinskey said the hearing transcript along with 75 pieces of evidence and late findings, will be studied before the commission announces its findings.
"We want to try to find what caused this accident and determine what can be done to prevent similar ones in the future," Vinskey said.
Victims of the crash were B & O crewmen Carl Duckworth, 63, G. S. Williams, and C. C. Druschel, all of New Castle, Pa., and Erie crewmen Don Narney, 42, and Carl B. Porter, both of Marion, Ohio. Clyde Masters, 54, of Marion, was thrown from the Erie train and is still hospitalized.

on which the monks had been resting into the streets.
The Buddhist hierarchy broadcast an appeal "to all chapters throughout the country" to cease the antigovernment campaign.
By the time Taylor returned to Saigon, Khanh had left the capital for his seaside headquarters at Vung Tau.
"Now it's Taylor or Khanh," a Vietnamese officer said. "One or the other has to go."
Khanh is understood to have made the recall of the ambassador one of his prime objectives.
In Washington, State Department officials concerned with the situation in Viet Nam hurried to their offices in the middle of the night to assess the reports from Saigon.
Khanh and Taylor became bitter antagonists following the partial coup last Dec. 20, when Khanh and a group of young generals dissolved the High National Council — the provisional legislature.
Taylor pressed U.S. demands for a reversal of the military action and assurance that the military would quit dabbling in politics. The feud appeared to ease when the generals announced they had returned power to the civilian leaders and released politicians arrested in the purge. But several of the young generals behind Khanh continued to favor establishment of a military dictatorship, and it was no secret that ill feeling remained between Khanh and Taylor.
Khanh's seizure of power was no surprise. In conferences over the weekend, he and his generals reportedly decided that Huong must go and the only question was one of timing.
Khanh issued a communique saying he was taking charge "to resolve the political situation at the present time." He charged that the civilian government of Huong and chief of state Phan Khac Suu "is not able to cope with the supremely important present emergency situation."

New Charge May Be Filed In Abduction

CLEVELAND (AP) — The prosecutor's office is investigating the possibility that additional charges may be filed in Summit County against William H. Rehard in connection with the abduction of 7-year-old Donna Adkins.
Rehard, 22, was bound over to the Cuyahoga County grand jury Tuesday when he was arraigned in municipal court on a charge of child stealing. He has admitted luring the child into his car, keeping her for more than 24 hours and firing blank 22-caliber cartridges close to her eyes before abandoning her on the Ohio Turnpike, police reported.
The spot where Donna was found Friday night is south of Brecksville in Summit County.
Detective Sgt. Norman E. Ferris of the Cleveland police said Tuesday night he has conferred with the county prosecutor, John T. Corrigan, and that the prosecutor will "look into the matter of Summit County prosecution."
Authorities say also additional charges could be brought against Rehard in this county, including maiming, auto theft and felonious assault.
Donna, one of seven children of a Ford Motor Co. plant worker, was reported in good condition in Southwest Community Hospital. Her left eye is still bandaged, and doctors say they will not know until the bandages are removed whether she will lose her sight in that eye.

Silver Black Market Is Seen by Lausche

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Frank J. Lausche, D - Ohio, wants a law passed that would make it a crime for any person to sell coins for a profit. Lausche told the Senate Tuesday there is a black market in silver coins.
He read a newspaper advertisement giving telephone numbers in New Jersey and Philadelphia of an individual who offered to sell wrapped coins at a premium. An aide to Lausche said the bill would not apply to coin collectors and legitimate dealers.

County Receives 2nd Distribution Of Court Costs

The second quarterly distribution of criminal court costs to Pickaway County totaled $150.75 according to a report from the office of Chester W. Goble, state auditor.
The report stated that $122,709.26 was distributed to 73 counties in the state.
The distribution, which represents 70 per cent of the claims filed by the respective counties, brings to $233,074.43 the total distributions during the first half of the current fiscal year.

News of World in Brief

WASHINGTON (AP) — An ocean area near Hawaii has been tentatively selected as the site for the historic attempt to drill a six-mile deep hole into the earth through the ocean bottom, the National Science Foundation announced today.
Drilling is expected to begin in 1968 at the earliest, the foundation said.
It's all a part of a venture known as "Project Mohole" — an attempt to gain knowledge of the earth's origin, structure, minerals-making and earthquake-brewing. The operation is expected to cost $70 million in the first three years, including the cost of major equipment, and $8 million a year thereafter until the job is done.
NEW YORK (AP) — Unless the United States employs a new strategy, it will be thrown out of Viet Nam "in a matter of months, certainly within a year," former Vice President Richard M. Nixon says.
Nixon claims "we are losing the war in Viet Nam" and he proposes a quarantine to cut off Communist supply lines by using American air and sea power, but not nuclear weapons.
In a speech Tuesday the 1960 Republican presidential candidate described his proposal as "a very risky one," but said he doubts Red China would enter the conflict.

He said such a procedure without doubt would promote a better trade relationship between local firms and the f.a.m. population, plus provide sound moves toward better competition with nearby shopping areas.
Following considerable discussion and individual comments, it was resolved that various problems will be created for firms exercising the Wednesday opening policy. However, suggestions for solution seemed encouraging.
CLIFTON, describing the new opening policy as a start toward improvement of the local business picture, said an additional survey of the proposal is in order. He said local firms not represented at yesterday's meeting will be notified and encouraged to participate in the new policy.
The Chamber head said perhaps not all stores will be open on Wednesday afternoon of Feb. 3. But he expressed confidence the program will be launched and its effects soon felt.
The outlook on banks and loan firms relative to the program was included on the discussion agenda as an essential item. Clifton said at least one financial institution has indicated it will remain open if downtown firms do likewise.
Clifton reiterated that the Wednesday program will be initiated Feb. 3 as a permanent policy — not on a trial basis. He said the verbal approval of those present should be a solid indication that business doors will be open all day on this date and on the Wednesdays to follow.
Striving to clarify the action taken, he pointed out that it did not represent a Chamber of Commerce attitude designed to tell local merchants the store hours they should follow. He explained it as "a concentrated effort to improve the business outlook in Circleville," with increased retail trade and consumer services rendered the resulting products.
The fast moving session touched off a brief debate on uniform store hours on a daily basis. However, Clifton labeled this problem as a project destined for future study — one of several that will be undertaken after the Wednesday policy is put in proper perspective.
The Chamber president praised the excellent turnout of business personnel. He termed the session a "successful and gratifying meeting."

Weather Control Goal

Intriguing indeed is the news from the University of Chicago that weather scientists have constructed a machine which may lead to control of the weather. The device is a miniature atmospheric cloud chamber, and what it can do is duplicate any cloud nature can come up with.

Copying natural mechanisms, of course, is one way of learning how to combat them. That is exactly what the seven-foot-tall contrivance is designed to do. As is usual in meteorological efforts of this kind, scientists in charge of the cloud-maker caution they do not know how soon their efforts might lead to effective weather control.

Creating a cloud of any given water density and temperature in a gallon-size brass container is a long step from preventing droughts, blizzards or torrential floods, but the difference may be more of size than substance.

For years applications of dry ice and silver iodide in favorable cloud formations have produced some degree of success in rain-making. But the methods are crude and uncertain and depend heavily on cooperation from nature.

Creating favorable weather phenomena from unfavorable conditions is the trick. As a training ground for the creation of made-to-order clouds, the University of Chicago machine could unravel some of the secrets.

If anyone is wearing a hat, he should doff it to the cloud laboratory and the men who man it. After the extremes of weather tantrums the United States has undergone in the last year, ranging from severe droughts and then record floods in the West to snarling blizzards in the North, East and South, cloud formations controlled by man will be something new and welcome, even if they are only a test tube variety.

Looking Ahead to 2000

What changes will take place — that can be tagged as revolutionary — between now and the year 2000? A newspaper columnist asks the question, but does not attempt to answer it.

That changes will be many and drastic can be surmised by looking back 35 years and listing some of the outstanding developments. The list includes:

Atomic discoveries and development, vastly improved roads, many more automobiles of greatly improved design and performance, jet air travel, virtual disappearance of the horse, radio and television, frozen foods, radical changes in architectural design of houses and other buildings, improvement and popularization of automatic heat.

The list is almost endless.

Family Accountant's Woes

By JOY STILLEY
(For Hal Boyle)

NEW YORK (AP) — The bank and I play a little game. They try to catch me in a mistake and I try to catch them in one.

So far the bank has won every time. It doesn't seem quite fair, though. There are so many of them and only one of me. They have all those adding machines and computers. I have only 10 fingers and — in an emergency — an equal number of toes.

The contest can't stay this one-sided forever. Any month now they'll forget to subtract 10 cents for a check, or ignore the service charge, or even make 6 from 13 come out 8 like I do.

I'm not exactly the one that aptitude tests would pick to balance a checkbook. But my husband's talent along those lines is even less awe-inspiring than mine. So I became the family accountant.

In the beginning I had a fighting chance. We have the type of account whereby you pay 10 cents for each check used. At the time I embarked on my banking career the customer purchased a book of 20 checks in advance for $2. They were mine, outright. All I had to do was concentrate on subtracting the amount of the check from the previous balance, adding the sum of a deposit now and then.

The bank decided it was making things too easy for me and tried to live up to the game. They started giving out the checks free. The 10 cents was charged after the check cleared. I had to dig out the old family abacus to come to terms with that system but I finally mastered it.

Whereupon the gleeful bankers devised a new scheme. The statement showed that the face value of cleared checks had been subtracted. But for some reason the dime charges weren't taken off until the next month. That did it! From then on their figures and mine disagreed violently — always in multiples of 10.

Apparently they had a few other outraged patrons who didn't have master's degrees in higher mathematics. Just as I was about to hide my money under the mattress a new ukase came through. The 10-cent charge henceforth would come off along with the check. I was back in the game.

The Business World

By Sam Dawson

NEW YORK (AP) — A golden flood of profits is delighting most of the nation's stockholders — and the director of the U.S. Budget.

Each day brings a quota of reports of record earnings, scattered through many industries — and the certainty that even at lower tax rates corporate incomes will yield the U.S. Treasury more revenue than it hoped for only a year ago. The profits also are tied with rising personal incomes — and tax receipts.

The increased profits are reported by major steel, oil, chemical, drug and business machine companies. With few exceptions the utilities are pushing into new high ground. Most of the railroads to report so far show sizable gains in revenues and profits. Aircraft makes are among those reporting increased earnings. So are the farm machinery, meat packing, food, textile, glass and paper industries.

After-tax profits are adding up to a record $32 billion to $34 billion total for 1964, compared with $26.7 billion netted by American corporations in 1963.

Steel industry gains are outstanding. Republic with $72 million profit is up 30 per cent. National with a record $85 million is up 33 per cent. Pittsburgh Steel at $6 million is up 80 per cent from the year before.

Record earnings by American Telephone Telegraph's Bell System at $1.7 billion and International Business Machines at $431 million delight big families of stockholders. Major motor companies, yet to report, seem sure to report records, despite last fall's strikes.

Leading the parade of oil companies are Texaco with $577 million up from $547 million; Socony Mobile with $294 million, up from $272 million; Sun Oil with $68 million, up from $61 million; and Union Oil of California with $62 million, up from $52 million.

Few of the companies reporting so far hint at any decline in gross earnings in 1965, although some complain of rising production costs. And the steel companies stress the threat of rising labor costs from the union negotiations getting under way.

For stockholders, the stock market, and the federal tax collectors, the flood of earnings reports spell little but good news.

Try and Stop Me

A LOWLY GOLF DUFFER at the Sunningdale Club teed off on one of the three-par holes, waggled his club menacingly, then sliced deep into the wood. The ball hit two trees, three rocks, then miraculously dribbled on to the green, two feet from the cup. The duffer turned triumphantly to the other members of his foursome and crowed, "What did I tell you? I knew that all I had to do to perfect my drives was to change my stance!"

A Connecticut schoolboy, to hear that state's able Senator Thomas Dodd tell it, was cajoled by his ambitious parents into entering an oratorical contest for which he was eminently unqualified. When he got back home, his father asked eagerly, "Did you win?" "No," replied the son, "but I got horrible mention."

A customer of the Old National Bank in Evansville applied for a home improvement loan, explaining that he was going to get a divorce. Asked to explain what a divorce had to do with a home improvement loan, he replied heatedly, "I can't think of anything in the world that would improve my home more."

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

By LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

What is an aneurysm of a blood vessel?

All blood vessels, especially the very large arteries, have delicate but powerful muscles. These muscles make the blood vessel larger or smaller, according to the amount of blood that is being pumped through them by the heart.

Sometimes the muscle which lines the large blood vessels becomes weak at a certain spot. The pressure of blood being pumped through the blood vessel may push the tissue outward at the weakened spot and produce a kind of "bubble," or aneurysm. This resembles the large blister which sometimes appears on the inner tube of an automobile tire at a point where the rubber has become worn or weakened.

There are different causes of aneurysms. They may be the result of a birth defect. Sometimes advanced arteriosclerosis or special infections can produce such a weak spot in a blood vessel.

Brilliant and courageous surgical techniques can now actually remove the diseased portion of an artery to prevent the imminent threat of a "blowout" hemorrhage.

Arteries preserved in "banks" and synthetic decron "sleeves" are now being used to replace the portion of the blood vessels with the aneurysm.

This life-saving operation is one of the great accomplishments of modern heart surgery. It is made possible by the heart-lung machine, which is used to maintain the uninterrupted vital flow of blood to all parts of the body while this delicate surgery is being performed.

What is the best way for a family to avoid confusion between the many colored capsules that fill the medicine chest?

Physicians usually prescribe enough pills to last for the expected duration of an illness. The word "repeat" on a prescription indicates to the pharmacist that the same prescription may be refilled if the patient requires an additional quantity.

Your doctor discriminately prescribes specific medications for specific illnesses. The same medicines may be of no value in treating other medical conditions, even with similar symptoms.

To avoid confusion, it is best to throw away small quantities of left-over pills or capsules as soon as an illness is over.

Read the label carefully before taking any medicine. More and more physicians are in-

Imagination Plowed Under

By John Chamberlain

The other day I wrote a memorandum to myself in the "futures" section of the notebook I keep: "Call Senator Claiborne Pell (of Rhode Island) about high-speed train between Boston and Washington."

That night it took me five hours to get home on the New Haven Railroad instead of the "normal" hour-and-a-half. While our train was hung up outside the 125th Street Station in New York City I listened to the agonized imprecations of the man sitting next to me. He had a date to be in Bridgeport for his once-a-month gourmet's dinner, and he wasn't going to make it even for coffee. Another man was talking nostalgically about his recent trip to Japan, where he had covered some three hundred miles on a crack train in a little more than three hours.

Such is the situation of the commuter these days. He reads stories about the transportation Utopias that are springing full-blown from the heads of Senator Pell and other politicians. Then he suffers in the daily agony of trying to get from here to there in the present.

Who is to blame for this state of affairs? The socialists blame the free enterprisers. The free enterprisers, in turn, blame the Interstate Commerce Commission and the whole business of government intervention. Both sides are right, depending on what bias of past history you care to select.

Two of the railroads serving the New York metropolitan area, the Erie and the New Haven, were victimized by industrial freebooters. My father-in-law was a maintenance of way engineer for the New Haven, and I used to get a gorgeous filling in from time to time on the subject of the successive mulchings of the corporation he loyally served for some fifty years. He told me about the great "Schuyler fraud" of 1854, which was perpetrated by Robert Schuyler, who used his position as president of the railroad to issue fake stock certificates which he proceeded to market for his own account through his own brokerage company.

My father-in-law told me about the juggling that went on prior to 1914, when the railroad was milked by legal eagles who set up some 300 subsidiary corporations to purchase trolley lines, feeder railroads and steamship lines that were carried on the books as tremendously watered figures. This sort of corporate inflation naturally ended in receivership. Came later, an era in which the railroad built a fine new building that rears its affluent-looking head in New Haven not far from the tracks over which some of the most antiquated rolling stock in the world is now hauled at a snail's pace, comparatively speaking.

The capitalists did all this to the New Haven, just as Jay Gould, Jim Fisk, and their friends did similar things to the Erie. But the "cure by government intervention" was worse than the disease. The automobile came, and the states, sometimes with federal money, built new thoroughways that gave effective tax advantages to bus and trucking companies using the subsidized roadbeds. Back in the Eighteen Forties canal proprietors, facing the obsolescence of their sluggish equipment, reincorporated themselves as railroad men and built new railroads on their rights of way. But the Interstate Commerce Commission, fighting a phantom threat of "monopoly," wouldn't let railroads branch out into the trucking and airline businesses, although some have held stock in bus companies. Meanwhile the railroads were compelled to render certain services whether they could do it at a profit or not. "Public convenience" was the excuse. But public convenience now means that it sometimes takes five hours to get home.

All this is threshing old straw, and doesn't get us to Senator Pell's vision of a high-speed railroad Utopia. If we still had the old free enterprise parax, we'd do something for ourselves without waiting upon the Senator from Rhode Island. There's a man in South Africa Lou Strydom, who has invented a baby helicopter called a minicopter. It sells for $3,100 and costs less to run than a large car. Washington has money to dish out for urban renewal that might be used to clear land for huge minicopter ports in downtown areas. And the new hydrofoil boat might carry lots of passengers into seaboard metropolises if only urban renewal would provide new dock space. Does this offer a future for the Brooklyn Navy Yard?

Where has our imagination gone? And how can you have a Great Society with imagination men' intervention' was worse

FIXING THE RESPONSIBILITY OF STERILITY

Q. In the case of a barren marriage, is it medically possible to determine whether the wife or husband is to blame?

A. It is not too difficult to pinpoint the trouble in clearcut cases of sterility. However, in appraising the childless couple the doctor is often faced with insurmountable obstacles in identifying the "responsible" partner. Fertility is not an "all or none" affair. Some individuals are highly fertile, others are just borderline. When both the husband and wife are not quite "up to par" in all respects (as is often the case), who is to blame? Is the wife solely responsible for her inability to conceive, or is her husband at least partially responsible? Solomon himself would be hard pressed for an answer.

'Missile Gap' Never Existed, Officials' Interviews Reveal

EDITOR'S NOTE—In 1960 the "missile gap" was on everyone's lips. It played an important part in the presidential campaign and affected relations between the United States and the Soviet Union. In the first of three articles, Everett S. Allen, staff writer of the New Bedford (Mass.) Standard-Times, details how the "missile gap" issue developed. The Standard-Times made the series available to The Associated Press.

By EVERETT S. ALLEN
Standard-Times Staff Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Four years after its climax, the non-existent "missile gap," born of unsubstantiated fear that the Russians were ahead of us, emerges as one of the most dramatically significant myths in American history.

Although official opinions on the subject vary greatly, this is the unmistakable conclusion to be found in examining views of present and former military and civilian leaders of the Eisenhower - Kennedy - Johnson administrations, which have been made available to me.

Initially, I asked Dr. Jerome B. Wiesner, former adviser of President John F. Kennedy and now dean of science of Massachusetts Institute of Technology, whether the Kennedy forces had knowingly exploited in the 1960 campaign a "missile gap" that did not exist.

Dr. Wiesner, who assisted the missile effort in major degree during both the Eisenhower and Kennedy administrations, denied this. In reply, he suggested this story be written, and arranged for some of the interviews, in the belief it would constitute a public service through verification of the historic events involved.

I have talked with, or been given the authorized views of more than a dozen persons whose positions offered them some first-hand knowledge of the events involved. As a result, I have concluded that, despite the fact there never was any such thing, the "missile gap" produced these results: Among others:

1. It stimulated a U.S.-U.S.S.R. missile race, in which the United States maintains a 4:1 lead as the result of a $17-billion program initiated by President Dwight D. Eisenhower and accelerated by President Kennedy.

2. Caused both nations to approximately double their missile arsenals so that, as advocates of gradual disarmament are quick to point out, our relative positions remains the same, despite the expenditure of billions. By early 1965, the Soviet Union will have 200 intercontinental ballistic missiles, double the number of a year earlier. By the same time, the U.S. will have 925 ICBMs, compared with 475 a year earlier.

3. Provoked nationwide fears that married unjustly the records of both the Eisenhower and Kennedy administrations and provided one of the major issues that defeated Vice President Richard M. Nixon and elected Kennedy to the White House.

The Eisenhower administration was not delinquent in its preparedness program, as Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., a former Air Force secretary, and others charged (and some Respacecraft built to orbit the moon must be designed to withstand its hostile environment. Temperatures reach minus 280 degrees on the dark side, while the lighted side bakes at 260 degrees.

publicans in government believed it, too).

The Kennedy team was not deceitful when it claimed that a missile gap threatened this country during the campaign months of 1960 and announced, after the election, that it did not exist. The shift was due to more and better intelligence, and to the fact that Kennedy, as a campaigning senator, was denied missile information possessed by the White House.

Two incidents in this historic drama, hitherto unpublished, illustrate poignantly the role of the psychological on both sides of the Iron Curtain in the development of the "missile gap" impact.

As Democratic candidate for president of the United States, Kennedy was barred in August 1960 from receiving a full-scale briefing on U.S.-U.S.S.R. missile strength at Strategic Air Command headquarters in Omaha. The briefing had been promised to him by the Republican administration.

Former Sen. Pierre Salinger, D-Calif., previously President Kennedy's press secretary, related that "we (the Kennedy campaign entourage) went to SAC headquarters with the understanding that the senator was to be fully briefed."

"Apparently, the night before, there were orders from Washington that he was not to get a full briefing. The senator was damned mad about it."

Salinger said, "I can't say the orders (denying Kennedy a full briefing) came from President Eisenhower, but certainly from or via the secretary of defense (Thomas S. Gates Jr.)."

When I questioned Salinger, he replied, "I don't know why the Pentagon order was given."

Denied facts of the "missile gap" in possession of the Eisenhower administration, Kennedy was more inclined to listen to those advisers, including Symington, who felt it was a major issue.

Two months after the visit to SAC headquarters and 5,000 miles away in Moscow, the full ramifications of the Omaha rebuke to the successful Democratic candidate were made clear to President Kennedy's advisers, Dr. Walt Rostow and Dr. Wiesner. Wiesner and Rostow, an MIT economics professor later appointed to government by Kennedy and now chairman of the State Department Policy Planning Council, were in Russia attending a Pugwash conference of East-West scientists.

Soviet Deputy Minister Vasilyevich Kuznetsov knew Dr. Wiesner on a first-name basis, an association dating from an international convention on safeguards against surprise attack in 1958.

Kuznetsov sent a staff member to contact Wiesner, asking if the latter would like to see him. Wiesner said he would and suggested Dr. Rostow come, too.

In his office in the Foreign Ministry, Kuznetsov commented that he had become aware, from U.S. news coverage of Kennedy's campaign speeches, that the President was being pressed to double the Eisenhower administration's missile program.

But he added, it was troubled by the militant nature of some of the Democratic campaign utterances.

The visiting Americans attempted to reassure the Soviet minister. They emphasized that missiles were a more secure defense basis, since they did not embody most of the human-error fallibilities of a constantly alerted, manned-plane program. This, they suggested, ought to give the Soviets some comfort.

Kuznetsov, however, reiterated that if there were a major U.S. missile buildup, it would probably require his country to respond.

Thus the stage was set for a continuation of the highly competitive U.S.-U.S.S.R. missile race.

Other military and civilian leaders whose views have made possible the piecing together of this unique missile-gap story from its beginnings include:

Allen Dulles, former director of the Central Intelligence Agency, who stated, "By '57, we began to get evidence of a rather major Soviet breakthrough. Intelligence, correctly, I think indicated they were ahead; this was based in part on successful firings out of the total shots fired. Then intelligence, and I think properly, sounded the alarm. There was at least a threatening missile gap in 1957."

Lt. Gen. James M. Gavin, Ret., former Army missile chief declared, "Our missile need involved a lag, not a gap, since the former represents a tardy effort and can be closed. I didn't know what Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara was talking about when he referred to a 'gap.' I think the lag still is serious in the anti-ICBM field. Mr. Kennedy understood the problem, however, and began to move on it."

A State Department official, incumbent, who declined to be identified, gave this view of the situation: "The Iron Curtain is not as iron as it was: intelligence is better than it used to be. We went astray on the gap, lacking hard facts. We made an estimate on what would be a rational decision and they didn't make this decision. It still is hard to figure why they didn't produce and deploy their first-generation missile."

Next: The missile race.

Steel Union Poll Delay Is Denied by Judge

PITTSBURGH (AP) — A federal judge has dismissed a petition by an Ohio union leader asking for postponement of the Feb. 9 election for director of United Steelworkers' District 28 in Cuyahoga County, Ohio.

Joseph Kender of Parma, Ohio, president of USW Local 2265, contended in his petition that incumbent Paul Schremp refused to let him use the district's mailing list in his campaign for director. Judge Herbert P. Sorg ruled Tuesday that Kender may contest the election with the secretary of labor under the Landrum-Griffith Act.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Let the Bride Pay

DEAR ABBY: We plan to be married in June, right after my fiancé finishes college. He is working to put himself through college, and even has had to help with a younger brother's education, so he hasn't enough money saved to pay for the honeymoon trip we've always hoped for. After we marry and he begins his career, it will be years before we will be able to have a trip like that. I am a practicing registered nurse and have money saved. Would it be all right if I paid for part of the honeymoon trip so we could go where we've always wanted to go? Or should we just go as far as his money can take us?

MONEY IN BANK
DEAR MONEY: If you want to follow conventional practice to a gnat's eyelash, the groom pays for the honeymoon.

whether it's to Hawaii or Hoboken. But you've made a special case for yourselves, and admirably too. So if it takes your "help" to swing the kind of honeymoon trip you've always both dreamed of, I say, help. And happy landings!

DEAR ABBY: I am 12 years old (nearly 13) and I have normal looks for my age except maybe I am quite a bit more developed for a girl my age. A lot of boys seem to notice me, but not for the reasons I'd like to be noticed. I don't wear my clothes too tight or anything like that. I hear remarks made about me that make me feel like something "dirty." It confuses me to be told that I should be proud of my build because I guess in a way I am sort of ashamed of it. Do you think it is fair for my father to laugh when he sees me with my blouse tucked in my slacks and say, "Are you SURE you're only 12?"

CONFUSED
DEAR CONFUSED: You should be proud of your "build" and even prouder of your wholesome attitude. Just keep wearing your clothes tight enough to show you're a girl, and loose enough to show you're a lady. Don't pay any attention to the "cracks" people make. And your father should be ashamed of himself.

DEAR ABBY: I just had to write you about my husband's overly critical attitude. If he isn't criticizing someone he knows, he is criticizing the performers on television. Our sons are ten-agers, and they have picked up their father's habit of criticizing everybody. The boys are aggressive, domineering, obnoxious, and disrespectful, and have terrible tempers, just like their father. Please, Abby, won't you tell me how to handle this situation, as I don't know how much more of this I can take? Thank you.

BEAT
DEAR BEAT: From your description of the boys' father I wouldn't advise you to become too critical of HIM. You will have to try twice as hard to influence your sons for the better in order to offset the bad example set by their father.

CONFIDENTIAL TO ELLIE:
Most men who have lived alone for 48 years have developed a long list of self-centered habits that would drive any woman to distraction. Don't work too hard to land this one.

Cleveland Educator Seeks Federal Boost

WASHINGTON (AP) — Paul W. Briggs, superintendent of schools in Cleveland, Ohio, told the Senate Education Subcommittee Tuesday that the kind of federal aid called for in the administration's aid-to-the-needy education program is urgently needed in his city.

He was particularly enthusiastic about the proposal to establish supplementary educational centers in communities. He called it a "bold, innovative and educationally sound approach."

Ferguson Ponders Race for Auditor

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Thomas E. Ferguson said today he would complete circulation of petitions for the Democratic nominations for state auditor in the May 4 primary despite an attorney general's ruling that no election for that post can be held until 1966.

Ferguson, 36, son of former state auditor and treasurer, Joseph T. Ferguson, said he began circulating the petitions before Atty. Gen. William B. Saxbe's recent ruling.

Ferguson, who sought unsuccessfully to succeed his father as treasurer in 1962, said he would decide by the Feb. 3 filing deadline whether to submit the petitions. He said a court suit might be required to get on the ballot in view of Saxbe's ruling.

'Lettermen' Go to School, Learn $3,000 per Night

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — There is gold on those college campuses. If you don't believe it, ask The Lettermen, who matriculated to the tune of $300,000 on the higher-learning circuit last year.

The Capitol Records singing group is composed of Tony Butala, Jim Pike and Bob Engemann, three full-voiced young men who never earned a college letter. They stayed in college only two years apiece, but they do own high school letters in baseball and basketball to lay legitimate claim to their billing.

The trio is now going to college on a steady basis, but they will earn their degrees only at the bank. For a greater part of the school year they travel from school to school, performing their 2 1/2-hour show to capacity audiences.

The returns can be gratifying. Their record so far is a one-night stand before 11,000 at the University of Florida. The boys' take-home pay: $7,000.

"Our average is about $3,500 a night," explained Tony, blond spokesman for The Lettermen, "and we can play five or six nights a week. Most of the other acts that play colleges fly to their dates, but we go by our own bus. Thus we can plan our tours to take in all the colleges in an area, big or small."

The Lettermen, church goes all, say "never on Sunday" in their tour planning, even though there is a trend for colleges to plan entertainments on Sunday. That is the trio's day of rest.

If colleges are such a lush field, why don't more entertainers play them?

"Because you need to have a special appeal," Tony explained. "College kids will pay to see entertainers with whom they can identify."

"We have actually gone against the trend, which has been to folk music. But I think folk is on the wane now."

The Lettermen musical diet ranges from close-harmony songs to folk satires to Beatle imitations.

Election Law Teeth Asked

Mandatory Jail Terms Are Sought

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Secretary of State Ted W. Brown called on the Ohio Legislature today for mandatory jail sentences for election law violations.

He submitted to Rep. Charles F. Kurfess, R-Wood, chairman of the House Elections and Federal Relations Committee, a proposal to codify election laws, redefine voting frauds and roughen penalties.

"We think stealing a man's vote is more serious than stealing his money," Brown observed.

"Election officials have experienced some difficulty in seeing penalties imposed on people convicted of serious election crimes . . . we have been disturbed to see courts let these felons off with small fines, probation, suspended sentences or pious lectures."

"We would like to see some teeth put into the law. This bill will do just that."

Brown added that the laws would be easier to understand and enforce if brought together and clarified.

"The law of election crimes and frauds deserves reorganization to give these crimes more specific definition and to bring them together in a few sections where they may be readily apparent to anyone concerned," he said.

Crimes covered would be placed in four sections.

A major section would deal with forging, falsely marking, mutilating or destroying ballots; tampering with voting machines, and stuffing ballot boxes.

Other sections pertain to: Bribing, coercing or intimidating voters; intimidating election officials and theft of election records; purjury in election matters, and forging the name of another to election records.

References to those crimes would be eliminated from other sections in bringing them together under the code.

Violation calls for a prison sentence of 1-20 years or for six months in county jail. Courts would have to choose one of the two penalties but could not suspend a sentence or release a violator on probation, under the measure.

Succession Proposal Is Made by Ohioan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Rodney M. Love, D-Ohio, has proposed a constitutional amendment under which the vice president would take over if the President was unable to serve. Under Love's proposal, submitted Tuesday, the President would not be able to resume his duties for three days after he notified the vice president that he was able to do so.

The vice president then could consult with the cabinet to decide whether the President was able to resume his duties. If they agreed that he was unable to do so, their decision would be subject to a two-thirds affirming vote by Congress.

New Viet Nam Tactics Studied

WASHINGTON (AP) — The war in South Viet Nam may be entering a new tactical phase with a growing infiltration of fighters from Communist North Viet Nam to beef up guerrilla forces battling the U.S.-supported South Vietnamese.

U.S. officials said Tuesday night they estimate on the basis of intelligence reports that probably 10,000 trained fighters infiltrated into the south from North Viet Nam last year. They also estimated that about 90 per cent of these were native North Vietnamese instead of southerners trained in the north and sent back home.

(South Vietnamese Ambassador Tran Thien Khiem had told The Associated Press in an exclusive Washington interview on Dec. 3 that North Viet Nam had sent 30,000 to 40,000 infiltrators into South Viet Nam during the past three years and the flow was continuing at a stepped-up pace.)

To the extent that the intelligence estimates reported Tuesday night by U.S. officials are correct, and they are said to be accepted by top officials here, they indicate a deeper direct involvement of North Viet Nam in the struggle in the south.

U.S. officials say the increase in North Vietnamese pressure may be accounted for at least in part by a drop almost to the vanishing point of South Vietnamese Communists available for training in the north.

Authorities here do not rule out, however, the possibility that the North Vietnamese may believe they are approaching a Communist victory in the south and intend to intensify their efforts to take over the country at a more rapid rate.

Another new element in the situation is that U.S. officials who until recently had played down the infiltration of native northern troops now stress this development as having taken place over the past year.

Their explanation is that in the last few months much better intelligence information has become available through improved methods of compiling and analyzing prisoner of war reports.

The latest figures released by officials here and also put out earlier Tuesday in Saigon appear certain to figure in debate on U.S. policy toward Viet Nam. This debate has already produced some demands in Congress that the United States should withdraw, negotiate a neutralization agreement with the Communists or otherwise find a way to end the struggle.

At the other extreme there are reported to be some officials within the government who would like to see the war

Discuss Member Drive for County

Officers of the Teen-Age Democrat Club discussed means of encouraging students from county schools to join the organization during a business meeting Monday at the home of Robert Pritchard, club president.

The group hopes to encourage county students to attend the next meeting of the group, scheduled 7:30 p.m. Feb. 2 at the home of Patti Jeffries, 114 Wilson Ave.

Also included in the Monday meeting were plans for a money making project for the coming month.

Refreshments were served.

County Share Of Budget $14,195,000

Operation of the Federal government during the fiscal year 1965-66 will cost taxpayers of Pickaway County an estimated $14,195,000 if President Johnson's budget of $99,700,000,000 submitted to Congress on Jan. 25 is enacted into law, according to the Ohio Chamber of Commerce.

Estimated cost for Ohio - at large of the Federal spending program proposed by the President would be $5,473,503,000, Ohio Chamber President Ralph R. Baldenhefer said.

The statistics also show that Pickaway County's burden may be compared with estimated 1963 store sales of food, apparel, furniture, household appliances and sales made by gasoline stations in the county. This amounts to approximately $12,588,000.

The estimate of Ohio's share of the Federal budget is based on information of the Ohio

Greek Church Affirms Tie To Unity Plan

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A high official of the Greek Orthodox Church has affirmed to Ohio Protestant pastors his church's full commitment to the Christian ecumenical movement.

"We shall be present and trust that we shall productively contribute to the hoped for and promised solution of each aspect of the program in which our sister Christian churches are involved," said the Very Rev. George J. Bacopulos.

Father Bacopulos is chancellor of the Greek Orthodox Archdiocese with headquarters in New York City. He spoke Tuesday night at the 46th annual Ohio Pastors Convocation.

"We bring to ecumenical meetings and discussions," said Father Bacopulos, "not ourselves nor our particular tenets or beliefs but the church universal—the one which has never lost its ecumenical conscience and spirit. We uphold that which Christianity in its totality upheld during the early centuries."

"As we grow to know each other better, we shall surely learn to reach back bravely and with assurance in the wealth which undivided Christianity has to offer us," he concluded.

Another young woman, nude and bleeding, struggled with her attacker on a New York doorstep. She told police she had been raped.

In Philadelphia, two youths snatched the purse of a woman as she lay injured and helpless after a traffic accident.

The fourth young woman gave birth to a baby on an Oklahoma City street in 34-degree weather.

In each case the incidents were seen by a number of persons who didn't lift a hand to help.

It is possible that they could not.

A Johns Hopkins Medical School psychiatrist says that besides a fear of getting involved some of the witnesses may have been frozen to inaction by the constant stress of crowded city living.

Dr. W. Horsley Gantt, who studied under the late Soviet scientist Ivan Pavlov, is the psychiatrist.

Dr. Gantt, associate professor emeritus of psychiatry and director of the Pavlovian Laboratory at the Johns Hopkins School of Medicine, feels that many people are thrown into "a nonreactive state," partly by the overstimulation that is part of big-city living.

"The more persons an individual meets," explained Dr. Gantt, "the more chance he has to react, to respond to commands, requests and demands for action."

"Reacting to a large number of people every day over a long period eventually leaves the individual incapable of reacting appropriately to stress." Pavlov — with a bell, a dog and food — established the conditioned reflex as a basis of behavior, which Dr. Gantt said was "the first step to understanding why people may fail to offer aid in an emergency."

Pavlov fed a dog as he rang a bell. After a time the dog just salivated when the bell rang whether or not the food was present.

"A dog can be starved almost to the point of death by a person commanding him not to take food," Dr. Gantt said. "It shows the effect of one individual on another."

"Strong reactions, depending on the presence of another individual — like the dog who won't eat — are universal throughout the animal kingdom."

"But if you overstimulate," said the psychiatrist, "then you can put the organism in a non-reactive state. It will react and react until it cannot react properly to any stimulus, no matter how strong."

Some reactions are pleasant or positive. Others are unpleasant or negative.

Pavlov called these reactions excitation and inhibition and

Probate Judge's Decision Reversed by Appeals Court

The Fourth District Court of Appeals has lifted a fine handed down to two persons by Probate Judge Guy Cline.

The appellate court reversed $500 contempt of court fines to the favor of Lloyd Grabill, Route 1, Orient, and his sister, Hattie Frost, Grove City.

Judge Cline had levied the fines against them after they failed to sign bank signature cards which would transfer two bank accounts to Kenneth Robins, a local attorney, guardian of their father, James S. Grabill Jr.

A $40,000 bond, also set by Judge Cline, for the appeals case was reduced to $1,000 by the appeals judges. The bond was set and reduced for both Grabill and Mrs. Frost.

THE defendants' attorney who filed the appeal is John R. Schickler, Columbus.

The appeals court opinion said that Judge Cline erred in hearing evidence and statements relating to Grabill's receivable assets during the course of a hearing that was scheduled for the purpose of approving the guardian's fees and the monthly amount to be paid to the incompetent Grabill.

Judge Cline indefinitely continued the hearing on the application for fees on April 4, 1962, the opinion states, and resumed the hearing on Mar. 5, 1964, without advance notice to the parties concerned.

The Mar. 5 hearing according to the appeals court, was scheduled as a continuance to set guardian's fees and the monthly allowance to the ward, but was converted to consider disposition of the bank accounts of the ward.

The appeals court termed Judge Cline's action as "an abuse of discretion since the parties before the court were notified as to one type of hearing, and the court chose to proceed to hear and dispose of in a summary manner the matter which had been pending sometime before the same court."

The portion of the hearing relating to attorney fees and monthly allowance for Mr. Grabill was deleted from the transcript of the hearing in Pickaway County Probate Court, the appellate judges pointed out, and "we have no hesitation in saying that the trial judge was without authority to do this." The appeals judges pointed out that as a reviewing court, it is entitled to a transcript showing the complete record of original hearings.

The opinion was written by Judge Marshall Carlisle and agreed upon by the other two appeals judges, P. J. Collier and William Brown.

The World Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — By a freak of history a president of the United States for more than a year has been able to concentrate almost entirely on home problems because foreign ones weren't boiling.

Thanks to this, President Johnson, little disturbed from outside, was able to establish his administration, and after the presidential election, to prepare the budget and programs now going to Congress in a steady flow.

But time is running out for him in the foreign field.

The comparative tranquility he enjoyed can't last and, although he has proved himself a master politician at home, he still has to prove himself in the foreign field where he is least experienced.

He has left foreign problems so much in the background all this time by saying so little about them that they seemed minor. Just recently he skipped over them lightly in his inaugural and State of the Union speeches.

Yet, they haven't been minor even when they seemed dormant and Viet Nam, certainly, has been a steady problem, getting worse, and is now reaching a crisis. Today's Saigon Coup raises new problems.

How did it happen, then, that under Johnson domestic affairs dominated American thinking almost completely?

Johnson, if only through his natural way of doing things, has directed public interest along the path he wanted by the twin policies of negation and affirmation.

(It's the way he tries to get things done at home: by playing up needs and playing down conflicts.)

Throughout his administration he has wished to focus attention on a grand scheme of American development — he calls it the Great Society — and has spent his time urging unity for prosperity and against poverty.

That's the affirmative method.

It's constructive, creative, and can expect popular support, which he always seeks, for hardly anyone can oppose a greater prosperity in which everyone is intended to share.

Foreign problems, except for direct or immediate threat to the United States, always seem a little remote. Johnson has made them seem more remote, and perhaps less important, by saying little about them. That's the method of negation. And the best example of it in operation is Viet Nam where the American-backed war against communism has been disintegrating.

Johnson hasn't said much publicly about Viet Nam. The problem there would be far higher in the American consciousness now if he had emphasized the crisis by pronouncements or warnings or by stating American policy there unmistakable terms.

As it is, even with disaster just around the corner unless there is a sudden turn in policy or events, that vital little country in Southeast Asia seems more a mish-mash than a crisis. It is getting so out of hand, and this country has such a stake in it, that Johnson cannot delay much longer in getting involved in it up to his neck. Whether he does it publicly or quietly is up to him.

Miami To Break Ground for Branch

MIDDLETOWN, Ohio (AP)—Ground will be broken here Thursday for construction of the $3.2 million Middletown branch of Miami University.

The school, scheduled to open in September 1966, is expected to have an initial enrollment of 2,500 students, largely from the Butler, Preble and Warren county areas. The enrollment is expected to reach 5,000 by 1970. Logan T. Johnston, president of the Armco Steel Corp., which gave the land for the school; Gov. James A. Rhodes; Dr. John Millett, chancellor of the Ohio Board of College Regents, and Dr. Charles Wilson, president of Miami, will be speakers at the ground-breaking.

American men now average 5 feet 10 inches, 2 inches more than in 1900. Women average 5 feet 5 inches. Weights are an average of 165 pounds for men and 127 pounds for women.

HOOSIER HOPES HIGH—With the twins, Tom and Dick VanArsdale, leading the way, the Indiana Hoosiers are hoping to get back into the Big Ten basketball picture after a mid-term layoff. The Hoosiers, ranked among the top 10 collegiate cage quints in the country, also feature Jon McGlocklin and Steve Redenbaugh, guards, and Ron Peyser, center. The twins and McGlocklin are each averaging 16 points a game.

Tigers, Indians Clash in Pressure Packed SCO Race

TIGER BENCH—Adding strength to the Circleville High School basketball team are Jim Diltz (left) and Dave Iery. Both are juniors and play reserve rolls.

The pressure is on in the South Central Ohio League.

Three teams — Circleville, Wilmington and Miami Trace — are deadlocked at the top of the standings. And only four loop games remain for each squad.

Friday night the CHS Tigers invade the lair of the Hillsboro Indians. The game will be played at Marshall High School in Highland County.

The Indians are dangerous in the tiny gymnasium, located in the village of Marshall eight miles east of Hillsboro on Route 124.

LAST WEEK the winless Indians pulled the SCO upset of the year by defeating highly favored Miami Trace in the cramped confines of the gymnasium. The Hillsboro quintet is playing there until the building program at Hillsboro is completed.

Right now the schedule appears to favor the Tigers in games remaining on the schedule. The two weakest teams in the league — Hillsboro and Greenfield — will host Circleville.

And the two teams that have beaten Circleville — Miami Trace and Washington C. H. will play here.

Although Hillsboro and Greenfield are the weakest squads, they have the greatest home floor advantages. Not only are their courts the smallest in the league, the seating capacity is, too. And as a rule, the few seats are packed with highly partisan local fans, leaving little space for visiting team supporters.

In the first game between the Tigers and the Indians, CHS came out on the winning end of a 75-67 score in a raggedly fought battle.

John Thomas, Chet Iery and John Maxwell paced the Tigers in the earlier win. Iery scored 21 points, Thomas 19 and Maxwell 14.

THAT GAME saw a total of personal fouls called. This evoked a comment from one official that it was the most fouls he

Large Gallery Expected for Patterson Bout

NEW YORK (AP)—The first big fight in town since Cassius Clay and Doug Jones sold out Madison Square Garden in 1963 has the Broadway crowd talking about Floyd Patterson and George Chuvalo.

Chances are the former heavyweight champion and the 27-year-old Canadian will pack the Garden Monday night but this is very hush, hush. Gardien brass is afraid any talk of a sellout will scare away a few dollars. There will be closed-circuit television, but none in New York.

Patterson, a man with enough money to last him a lifetime, burns with an ambition to shut Cassius Clay's mouth and beat Sonny Liston. Although both jobs are formidable, Floyd at 30 persists in thinking he can accomplish both missions and then retire to an upstate farm. He regards Chuvalo as another step up the ladder, the toughest on this comeback.

Jimmy August, a veteran trainer of fighters, thinks Floyd has too much for Chuvalo. As August worked the corner opposite the Canadian in both a winning and losing cause, he may be considered somewhat of an authority on Chuvalo lore.

"I worked with Pat McMurtry when he beat Chuvalo," said August. "McMurtry jabbed and jabbed and won every round until the end. Then Chuvalo hurt him with a left hook. But he was so far ahead he couldn't lose."

It will be interesting to see whether Patterson confines himself to jabbing and boxing. Sonny Liston knocked him out in one round in their first fight. Instead of staying outside and trying to box, Floyd went inside again and got flattened for the second time in the first round.

For this reason and the fact that such characters as Pete Rademacher, Tom McNeely and Roy Harris, to say nothing of Ingemar Johansson and Liston, have bounced Patterson off the deck repeatedly, there are many who fancy Chuvalo's chances. They say the original odds of 2-1 on Patterson have shortened to 8-5 but prices are a nebulous matter in this day and age.

ON THE other hand, when the Tigers have been on the short end of the score, there seemed to be a breakdown in both defense and teamwork.

Recently Coach Don Neff has been going with a starting five of John Thomas, John Maxwell, Chet Iery, Tim Stonerock and Ronnie Seward. All five of them are capable of scoring well. The sixth man has been Doug Roth.

Thomas is currently the high scorer with a total of 209 points in 12 games. Maxwell and Iery both have 178 for the season and Stonerock has 114. Seward has 31 points and Roth 41.

Circleville's top three scorers are also in the top 10 in league competition.

In other South Central Ohio League games this Friday, Miami Trace hosts Greenfield and Wilmington entertains Washington C. H.

Knicks Lose 3rd Straight To Lakers

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The New York Knickerbockers have parted company with Jerry West and Elgin Baylor for three weeks. If the Knicks had their way the separation would be permanent.

West and Baylor combined for 83 Los Angeles points Tuesday night as the Lakers whipped the Knicks 111-99 in the nightcap of a National Basketball Association doubleheader at New York. It was the Knicks' third straight loss — all to the Western Division leaders.

In the opener, the Philadelphia 76ers suffered their first setback with Wilt Chamberlain in the line-up, bowing 107-105 to the Detroit Pistons, who held the league's leading scorer to 17 points.

The Cincinnati Royals topped San Francisco 115-107 in the other game scheduled, running the Warriors' record NBA losing string to 17 games.

West scored 47 points and Baylor 36 for the Lakers, who have beaten New York eight straight times this season. The pair hit 30 of the Lakers' 34 points in a third-period burst that opened a 17-point bulge.

The teams' next meeting is Feb. 17 and it'll be too soon for the Knicks.

Giants Sign Up Orange Bowl Star

HOUSTON (AP)—Texas halfback Ernie Koy Jr., star of the recent Orange Bowl game, has been signed by the New York Giants of the National Football League right under the noses of the rival American Football League Houston Oilers.

No one is more pleased about the transaction than Frank (Pop) Ivy, former Oiler head coach and now Southwest scout for the Giants.

"Pop handled it," said Wellington T. Mara, Giant vice president, Tuesday. "I came down to be blamed if we lost Ernie."

Terms of the one-year contract were not announced, but guesses went as high as $35,000.

Michigan Fears Trip to Purdue

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Michigan Fears Purdue might be an apt headline in college basketball today.

The second-ranked Wolverines meet the unranked Boilermakers on Saturday. And off their close call against Michigan State Tuesday night, the Wolverines may be pardoned if they are apprehensive over their invasion of similarly unranked Purdue.

Michigan had to come from 10 points down to beat Michigan State 103-98 in overtime at East Lansing. It took a 40-point performance by Cazzie Russell to keep the Wolverines unbeaten in Big Ten play at 4-0 and 12-2 overall.

The fourth-ranked Providence Friars, the only other team in the Associated Press top ten to see action, crushed Rhode Island 73-56 for their 13th straight victory and maintained their position as the nation's only unbeaten major team.

Texas Tech defeated Southern Methodist 107-89 in their battle for first place in the Southwest Conference. In other games, West Virginia edged Pitt 76-75, Boston Univ. nipped Dartmouth 67-65, St. Bonaventure whipped Fairfield 88-68, LaSalle humbled Lafayette 91-73 and Furman took South Carolina 81-66. Michigan State, paced by Bill

Curtis' 36 points, led Michigan 43-33 at halftime, fell 12 points behind at 70-58 then rallied to tie the regulation game at 88-88 on John Schick's basket with 14 seconds left.

The Spartans twice tied the score in the extra period, but never caught up after George Pomeroy's jump shot put the Ann Arbor lads ahead for good. Providence fell behind 9-2 at the start, but soon stormed into the lead over Rhode Island and wasn't threatened thereafter. Jim Walker's floor play sparked the Friars to their home-court victory. He handed out 13 assists to back up Dexter Westbrook's top scoring with 20 points and Mike Riordan's guarding of Rhode Island's star, Dennis McGovern, who scored 12 points.

Akron Nips Wesleyan To Knot League

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
There's a three-way tie for first place in the Ohio Conference—but it probably won't last very long.

Akron knocked off Ohio Wesleyan Tuesday night 85-73 handing the Bishops their first conference loss of the season. The result left the triumphant Zips, Ohio Wesleyan and Wittenberg with 7-1 records.

But the Bishops face lowly Kenyon Thursday night and the Lords haven't won a league tiff in seven games.

Akron substitute Jerry Sloan sparked a second half rally with 13 points on four straight field goals and five free throws without a miss.

In other action on a very light card, Roland Gordon scored 32 points, 26 in the second half, to lead Baldwin-Wallace to a 93-84 victory over Fenn and Hiram turned back Mount Union 7-62 behind the rebounding and scoring of Walt Janssen and Ken Rowen. Each grabbed 18 rebounds and Janssen hit 15 and Rowen 11 points, respectively.

Ohio Rookie Driver Is Signed for '500'

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—The first rookie nominated to drive in the 49th 500-mile auto race here May 31 is Mickey Rupp of Mansfield, Ohio.

Rupp competed in other U.S. Auto Club events last year, finishing ninth in the sprint circuit. He also competed in 200-mile events at Milwaukee and Trenton. He was nominated for the same conventional front-engine Meyer-Drake roadster in which he competed in the 200s.

Gonzalez Upsets Welter Champion

HOUSTON (AP)—Manuel Gonzalez, an underdog from Odessa, Tex., used an effective left jab to fashion a thin 10-round split decision over welterweight champion Emile Griffith of New York Tuesday night in a non-title over-the-weight bout.

Gonzalez, ranked third among the welterweights, weathered a furious stretch drive by Griffith and earned the verdict which could have gone either way.

Griffith weighed 149 and Gonzalez 150½. Referee Jimmy Webb had Gonzalez ahead 97-94, judge Maxie Ross saw it 97-94 in favor of Griffith and judge Earl Keel voted for Gonzalez, 96-95. The Associated Press card had Griffith the victor, 97-96.

The Cincinnati Reds will meet the Chicago White Sox in a night exhibition game at Jacksonville, Fla., on Friday, April 2.

Frisco Golf Open Attracts 200

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Fifty professionals and 150 amateurs tee off today in a $5,000 pro-am prelude to the $55,000 San Francisco International Open Golf Tournament.

Included as amateurs in the 18-hole event at Harding Park are such show business notables as band leader Phil Harris, movie star Fred MacMurray and television personality Tennessee Ernie Ford.

The 72-hole open over the 6,722-yard, par 71 Harding course begins Thursday.

Missing from the big event are Jack Nicklaus, Arnold Palmer and hometown favorite Ken Venturi. The latter has a circulatory ailment in both hands.

Six winners of the Flamingo have won the Kentucky Derby. They were Northern Dancer, Carry Back, Tim Tam, Needles, Citation and Lawrin.

Probate Judge's Decision Reversed by Appeals Court

The Fourth District Court of Appeals has lifted a fine handed down to two persons by Probate Judge Guy Cline.

The appellate court reversed $500 contempt of court fines to the favor of Lloyd Grabill, Route 1, Orient, and his sister, Hattie Frost, Grove City.

Judge Cline had levied the fines against them after they failed to sign bank signature cards which would transfer two bank accounts to Kenneth Robins, a local attorney, guardian of their father, James S. Grabill Jr.

A $40,000 bond, also set by Judge Cline, for the appeals case was reduced to $1,000 by the appeals judges. The bond was set and reduced for both Grabill and Mrs. Frost.

THE defendants' attorney who filed the appeal is John R. Schickler, Columbus.

The appeals court opinion said that Judge Cline erred in hearing evidence and statements relating to Grabills' receivable assets during the course of a hearing that was scheduled for the purpose of approving the guardian's fees and the monthly amount to be paid to the incompetent Grabill.

Judge Cline indefinitely continued the hearing on the application for fees on April 4, 1962, the opinion states, and resumed the hearing on Mar. 5, 1964, without advance notice to the parties concerned.

The Mar. 5 hearing according to the appeals court, was scheduled as a continuance to set guardian's fees and the monthly allowance to the ward, but was converted to consider disposition of the bank accounts of the ward.

The appeals court termed Judge Cline's action as "an abuse of discretion since the parties before the court were notified as to one type of hearing, and the court chose to proceed to hear and dispose of in a summary manner the matter which had been pending sometime before the same court."

The portion of the hearing relating to attorney fees and monthly allowance for Mr. Grabill was deleted from the transcript of the hearing in Pickaway County Probate Court, the appeals judges pointed out, and "we have no hesitation in saying that the trial judge was without authority to do this." The appeals judges pointed out that as a reviewing court, it is entitled to a transcript showing the complete record of original hearings.

The opinion was written by Judge Marshall Carlisle and agreed upon by the other two appeals judges, P. J. Collier and William Brown.

The World Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — By a freak of history a president of the United States for more than a year has been able to concentrate almost entirely on home problems because foreign ones weren't boiling.

Thanks to this, President Johnson, little disturbed from outside, was able to establish his administration, and after the presidential election, to prepare the budget and programs now going to Congress in a steady flow.

But time is running out for him in the foreign field.

The comparative tranquility he enjoyed can't last and, although he has proved himself a master politician at home, he still has to prove himself in the foreign field where he is least experienced.

He has left foreign problems so much in the background all this time by saying so little about them that they seemed minor. Just recently he skipped over them lightly in his inaugural and State of the Union speeches.

Yet, they haven't been minor even when they seemed dormant and Viet Nam, certainly, has been a steady problem, getting worse, and is now reaching a crisis. Today's Saigon Coup raises new problems.

How did it happen, then, that under Johnson domestic affairs dominated American thinking almost completely?

Johnson, if only through his natural way of doing things, has directed public interest along the path he wanted by the twin policies of negation and affirmation.

(It's the way he tries to get things done at home: by playing up needs and playing down conflicts.)

Throughout his administration he has wished to focus attention on a grand scheme of American development — he calls it the Great Society — and has spent his time urging unity for prosperity and against poverty.

That's the affirmative method.

It's constructive, creative, and can expect popular support, which he always seeks, for hardly anyone can oppose a greater prosperity in which everyone is intended to share.

Foreign problems, except for direct or immediate threat to the United States, always seem a little remote. Johnson has made them seem more remote, and perhaps less important, by saying little about them. That's the method of negation. And the best example of it in operation is Viet Nam where the American-backed war against communism has been disintegrating.

Johnson hasn't said much publicly about Viet Nam. The problem there would be far higher in the American consciousness now if he had emphasized the crisis by pronouncements or warnings or by stating American policy there in unmistakable terms.

As it is, even with disaster just around the corner unless there is a sudden turn in policy or events, that vital little country in Southeast Asia seems more a mish-mash than a crisis.

It is getting so out of hand, and this country has such a stake in it, that Johnson cannot delay much longer in getting involved in it up to his neck. Whether he does it publicly or quietly is up to him.

Miami To Break Ground for Branch

MIDDLETOWN, Ohio (AP)—Ground will be broken here Thursday for construction of the $3.2 million Middletown branch of Miami University.

The school, scheduled to open in September 1966, is expected to have an initial enrollment of 2,500 students, largely from the Butler, Preble and Warren county areas. The enrollment is expected to reach 5,000 by 1970.

Logan T. Johnston, president of the Armco Steel Corp., which gave the land for the school; Gov. James A. Rhodes; Dr. John Millett, chancellor of the Ohio Board of College Regents, and Dr. Charles Wilson, president of Miami, will be speakers at the ground-breaking.

American men now average 5 feet 10 inches, 2 inches more than in 1900. Women average 5 feet 5 inches. Weights are an average of 165 pounds for men and 127 pounds for women.

HOOSIER HOPES HIGH—With the twins, Tom and Dick VanArsdale, leading the way, the Indiana Hoosiers are hoping to get back into the Big Ten basketball picture after a mid-term layoff. The Hoosiers, ranked among the top 10 collegiate cage quints in the country, also feature Jon McGlocklin and Steve Redenbaugh, guards, and Ron Peyser, center. The twins and McGlocklin are each averaging 16 points a game.

Tigers, Indians Clash in Pressure Packed SCO Race

TIGER BENCH — Adding strength to the Circleville High School basketball team are Jim Diltz (left) and Dave Iery. Both are juniors and play reserve rolls.

The pressure is on in the South Central Ohio League.

Three teams — Circleville, Wilmington and Miami Trace — are deadlocked at the top of the standings. And only four loop games remain for each squad.

Friday night the CHS Tigers invade the lair of the Hillsboro Indians. The game will be played at Marshall High School in Highland County.

The Indians are dangerous in the tiny gymnasium, located in the village of Marshall eight miles east of Hillsboro on Route 124.

LAST WEEK the winless Indians pulled the SCO upset of the year by defeating highly favored Miami Trace in the cramped confines of the gymnasium. The Hillsboro quintet is playing there until the building program at Hillsboro is completed.

Right now the schedule appears to favor the Tigers in games remaining on the schedule. The two weakest teams in the league — Hillsboro and Greenfield — will host Circleville.

And the two teams that have beaten Circleville — Miami Trace and Washington C. H. — will play here.

Although Hillsboro and Greenfield are the weakest squads, they have the greatest home floor advantages. Not only are their courts the smallest in the league, the seating capacity is, too. And as a rule, the few seats are packed with highly partisan local fans, leaving little space for visiting team supporters.

In the first game between the Tigers and the Indians, CHS came out on the winning end of a 75-67 score in a raggedly fought battle.

John Thomas, Chet Iery and John Maxwell paced the Tigers in the earlier win. Iery scored 21 points, Thomas 19 and Maxwell 14.

THAT GAME saw a total of personal fouls called. This evoked a comment from one official that it was the most fouls he

Large Gallery Expected for Patterson Bout

NEW YORK (AP) — The first big fight in town since Cassius Clay and Doug Jones sold out Madison Square Garden in 1963 has the Broadway crowd talking about Floyd Patterson and George Chuvalo.

Chances are the former heavyweight champion and the 27-year-old Canadian will pack the Garden Monday night but this is very hush, hush. Garden brass is afraid any talk of a sellout will scare away a few dollars. There will be closed-circuit television, but none in New York.

Patterson, a man with enough money to last him a lifetime, burns with an ambition to shut Cassius Clay's mouth and beat Sonny Liston. Although both jobs are formidable, Floyd at 30 persists in thinking he can accomplish both missions and then retire to an upstate farm. He regards Chuvalo as another step up the ladder, the toughest on this comeback.

Ed Robbins, Jim McConaughy and Ben Rhoades carried the scoring lead for the Indians in the tilt.

So far this year, Circleville has an overall 6-6 record.

Losses have been to Chillicothe, Lancaster, Teays Valley in non-loop play and to Washington C. H. and Miami Trace in league competition.

In turn the Tigers have twice beaten Wilmington, and own wins over Hillsboro and Greenfield in the SCO. Outside of the league they have beaten Reynoldsburg and Franklin Heights.

The key to Circleville's successes has been good defense combined with team play offensively.

ON THE other hand, when the Tigers have been on the short end of the score, there seemed to be a breakdown in both defense and teamwork.

Recently Coach Don Neff has been going with a starting five of John Thomas, John Maxwell, Chet Iery, Tim Stonerock and Ronnie Seward. All five of them are capable of scoring well. The sixth man has been Doug Roth.

Thomas is currently the high scorer with a total of 209 points in 12 games. Maxwell and Iery both have 176 for the season and Stonerock has 114. Seward has 31 points and Roth 41.

Circleville's top three scorers are also in the top 10 in league competition.

In other South Central Ohio League games this Friday, Miami Trace hosts Greenfield and Wilmington entertains Washington C. H.

Knicks Lose 3rd Straight To Lakers

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The New York Knickerbockers have parted company with Jerry West and Elgin Baylor for three weeks. If the Knicks had their way the separation would be permanent.

West and Baylor combined for 83 Los Angeles points Tuesday night as the Lakers whipped the Knicks 111-99 in the nightcap of a National Basketball Association doubleheader at New York. It was the Knicks' third straight loss — all to the Western Division leaders.

In the opener, the Philadelphia 76ers suffered their first setback with Wilt Chamberlain in the line-up, bowing 107-105 to the Detroit Pistons, who held the league's leading scorer to 17 points.

The Cincinnati Royals topped San Francisco 115-107 in the other game scheduled, running the Warriors' record NBA losing string to 17 games.

West scored 47 points and Baylor 36 for the Lakers, who have beaten New York eight straight times this season. The pair hit 30 of the Lakers' 34 points in a third-period burst that opened a 17-point bulge.

The teams' next meeting is Feb. 17 and it'll be too soon for the Knicks.

Giants Sign Up Orange Bowl Star

HOUSTON (AP) — Texas halfback Ernie Koy Jr., star of the recent Orange Bowl game, has been signed by the New York Giants of the National Football League right under the noses of the rival American Football League Houston Oilers.

No one is more pleased about the transaction than Frank (Pop) Ivy, former Oilers head coach and now Southwest scout for the Giants.

"Pop handled it," said Wellington T. Mara, Giant vice president, Tuesday. "I came down to be blamed if we lost Ernie."

Terms of the one-year contract were not announced, but guesses went as high as $35,000.

Michigan Fears Trip to Purdue

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Michigan Fears Purdue might be an apt headline in college basketball today.

The second-ranked Wolverines meet the unranked Boilermakers on Saturday. And off their close call against Michigan State Tuesday night, the Wolverines may be pardoned if they are apprehensive over their invasion of similarly unranked Purdue.

Michigan had to come from 10 points down to beat Michigan State 103-98 in overtime at East Lansing. It took a 40-point performance by Cazzie Russell to keep the Wolverines unbeaten in Big Ten play at 4-0 and 12-2 over-all.

The fourth-ranked Providence Friars, the only other team in the Associated Press top ten to see action, crushed Rhode Island 73-56 for their 13th straight victory and maintained their position as the nation's only unbeaten major team.

Texas Tech defeated Southern Methodist 107-89 in their battle for first place in the Southwest Conference. In other games, West Virginia edged Pitt 76-75, Boston Univ. nipped Dartmouth 67-65, St. Bonaventure whipped Fairfield 88-68, LaSalle humbled Lafayette 91-73 and Furman took South Carolina 81-66.

Michigan State, paced by Bill

Curtis' 36 points, led Michigan 43-33 at halftime, fell 12 points behind at 70-58 then rallied to tie the regulation game at 88-88 on John Schick's basket with 14 seconds left.

The Spartans twice tied the score in the extra period, but never caught up after George Pomey's jump shot put the Ann Arbor lads ahead for good.

Providence fell behind 9-2 at the start, but soon stormed into the lead over Rhode Island and wasn't threatened thereafter. Jim Walker's floor play sparked the Friars to their home-court victory. He handed out 13 assists to back up Dexter Westbrook's top scoring with 20 points and Mike Riordan's guarding of Rhode Island's star, Dennis McGovern, who scored 12 points.

Akron Nips Wesleyan To Knot League

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
There's a three-way tie for first place in the Ohio Conference—but it probably won't last very long.

Akron knocked off Ohio Wesleyan Tuesday night 85-73 handing the Bishops their first conference loss of the season. The result left the triumphant Zips, Ohio Wesleyan and Wittenberg with 7-1 records.

But the Bishops face lowly Kenyon Thursday night and the Lords haven't won a league tiff in seven games.

Akron substitute Jerry Sloan sparked a second half rally with 13 points on four straight field goals and five free throws without a miss.

In other action on a very light card, Roland Gordon scored 32 points, 26 in the second half, to lead Baldwin-Wallace to a 93-84 victory over Penn and Hiram turned back Mount Union 7-62 behind the rebounding and scoring of Walt Janssen and Ken Rowen. Each grabbed 18 rebounds and Janssen hit 15 and Rowen 11 points, respectively.

Ohio Rookie Driver Is Signed for '500'

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — The first rookie nominated to drive in the 49th 500-mile auto race here May 31 is Mickey Rupp of Mansfield, Ohio.

Rupp competed in other U.S. Auto Club events last year, finishing ninth in the sprint circuit. He also competed in 200-mile events at Milwaukee and Trenton. He was nominated for the same conventional front-engine Meyer-Drake roadster in which he competed in the 200s.

Gonzalez Upsets Welter Champion

HOUSTON (AP) — Manuel Gonzalez, an underdog from Odessa, Tex., used an effective left jab to fashion a thin 10-round split decision over welterweight champion Emile Griffith of New York Tuesday night in a non-title over-the-weight bout.

Gonzalez, ranked third among the welterweights, weathered a furious stretch drive by Griffith and earned the verdict which could have gone either way.

Griffith weighed 149 and Gonzalez 150½.

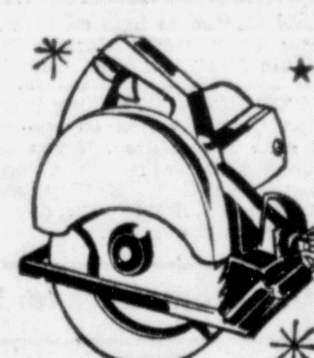

Referee Jimmy Webb had Gonzalez ahead 97-94, judge Maxie Ross saw it 97-94 in favor of Griffith and judge Earl Keel voted for Gonzalez, 96-95. The Associated Press card had Griffith the victor, 97-96.

The Cincinnati Reds will meet the Chicago White Sox in a night exhibition game at Jacksonville, Fla., on Friday, April 2.

Views on TV-Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — "The French Revolution," Tuesday night's illustrated lecture on NBC, might have made a nice quiet Sunday afternoon special around July 14, anniversary of the day French revolutionaries stormed the Bastille.

If you own a color set and stick with NBC, you can see a lot of the world in its original hue. But this cram course on the French Revolution, even for an eager armchair tourist, was crowding culture a bit.

The attempt to capture the 1789 revolution in one entertaining hour was a pretty ambitious undertaking. Despite painstaking research, some marvelous photography and interesting old prints, it was a very long, boring hour.

Besides, most of us had a pretty good idea from the beginning of who won.

On CBS, Red Skelton was very funny in a pantomime sketch kidding — of all unlikely subjects — Whistler's Mother. Red may get some outraged mail for this irreverence. And perhaps Phyllis Newman of "That Was the Week That Was," will get a letter too after her wicked spoof of Nancy Dickerson's concentrated coverage of President Johnson on Inauguration Day — and on the same network, too.

Recommended tonight: "Dick Van Dyke Show," CBS, 9-9:30 EST — second of a two-part episode with Jerry Van Dyke, Dick's brother; "Danny Kaye Show," CBS, 10-11 — with Irene Ryan of "Beverly Hillsbillies," and Bessie Griffin and the Gospel Pearls.

Indiana had the poorest home attendance in Big Ten football this season. The Hoosiers drew an average of 30,811 for five home games.

Stuhldreher, 63, the quarterback of the famed Fighting Irish backfield of 1922-24, died Tuesday in West Penn Hospital here. He had been admitted Dec. 29 and had undergone surgery Jan. 14.

His friends and teammates have their memories too — not just of Stuhldreher as a football player but also as a person.

"We lost a great one," Elmer Layden, one of the Horsemen, said in Chicago.

"He has done so many great things for others through the years," Layden said, "he gave of himself — to his work, to young men and to football and in many public appearances."

"The great little guy went out blocking, doing his job as he always did."

Don Miller of Cleveland, Stuhldreher's roommate and a member of the backfield, said Stuhldreher "was the greatest quarterback in the history of Notre Dame University ... not only a great passer and blocker but also a great safety man on defense."

He "exemplified the real meaning of sportsmanship ... an honor student, a great athlete, a gentleman and a warm friend," said Jim Crowley of Scranton, Pa., the fourth Horseman.

Stuhldreher and his three mates got the name of the Four Horsemen — a biblical allusion to the Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse, war, famine, pestilence and death — from the late sports writer, Grantland Rice, in 1924.

Stuhldreher, a U.S. Steel Corp. executive, spent 33 years in football as a player, coach and executive until 1950.

Minimum For Police Training Eyed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Representatives of various law enforcement agencies in Ohio have worked up a "rough draft" of legislation calling for approval of minimum standards for police training.

The officials, representing the Ohio Association of Police Chiefs, the Buckeye State Sheriffs Association and the Federal Bureau of Investigation, met here Tuesday and said they will ask the 106th General Assembly to establish a nine-member council to implement the program.

The proposed bill would require a minimum training period for police officers in the state, the minimum to be set by the nine-member council which would be appointed by the governor.

Under provisions of the bill, municipal governments which already have training programs would not be affected. All others would, including sheriffs and their deputies, but the bill would carry a "grandfather" clause exempting current officers.

A representative of the sheriff's group, Mary Ross, said the program they have in mind would be similar to one in New York under which qualified instructors are assigned as needed to regional training schools.

Rhodes Names Alston To State Position

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Gov. James A. Rhodes has appointed 58-year-old Harvey H. Alston, a Columbus city councilman, as senior community action field representative for the Ohio Office of Economic Opportunity.

Albert G. Giles, director of the economic opportunity office, said Tuesday that Alston will serve in a liaison capacity between his office and the many economic offices being established throughout the state. Alston is the first Negro to serve as an inspector in the Columbus Police Department.

Springfield City Manager Resigns

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (AP)—Springfield's city manager Roger Stilwell resigned Tuesday shortly after his six-day suspension of the police chief was upheld by a three-member Civil Service Board.

Stilwell, 40, relinquished his post after returning in 1959 to become city manager of his native city. He told the city commission in his resignation letter that his departure from the city government would be "in the best interest of the community."

The city manager suspended Chief Isaac Hollowell after an incident early Christmas morning involving two other members of the police force.

Alice Biggs visited Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Spangler at Ringgold Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Hampp visited the Moore family in Lancaster on Monday.
